check if an HTTP header contains a string? I'm having some troubles checking if an http header contains a string. I'm using the following code:
if(preg_match('/[\s]*|(\.[\s]+)*\s*$/', $_SERVER['HTTP_CONTENT_TY PE'])) { echo'match'; } else { echo
'not match'; } But it's returning 0 and 'not match' at every time, even if the header contains the string. The Content-Type header will be something like 'text/html; charset=utf-8' and even though this header has a string I want to match, it will return 0 and 'not match' as the output. I suspect that it has something to do with this RFC on the if statement: 4.4 Unary Operator

- The unary operation  $\oplus$  is the complement of the bitwise not operator. PHP RFC A: Check this: \$header = "Content-Type: text/html";

if(preg_match('/\s*(.+):/', $header, $match)) { echo "headers: ".$match[1]. " "; } it catches if the header has confused with all these characters names, you need to know that these scenes are from the story arc called

---

"The Juni Taisen", which is the first arc of Sho Aoki. The arc is called "Daimyougi - All for Love. I highly recommend reading the story arc if you don't want to have your mind blown. In the other topic, if you look at the title, you see the following phrase: "The Way is to The Truth". This means that Rei doesn't want to go to the future. My own interpretation is that this can be translated to "I don't want to go back to the future". Click to expand... I already saw it. I didn't even know about these people. But I found out that this arc involves the tournament.

Since I'm more familiar with the characters' names, I have the sensation that this arc is huge in this series. But this arc is short, so I don't want to say that this arc is the best arc in the series. AOTP had the good point of having the original actors at the main cast. But I feel that there are better arcs of the series than this one. this arc is the weakest and has the most laughable plot of the series. its just because this arc is the first time saw tanaka in the cast, but it doesnt change much to aotp. the characters are hilarious, and if it wasn't for the middle schooler jokes, this arc would be a really great anime. but thats what happened, and thats why this is the worst anime in the series. the story is not so good,

the characters are flawed and has a hollow plot, the plot is nothing more than a jumbled mess of a story, on top of that, the characters forget things in the middle of an argument, or the near death experience, and almost like a magnet it pulls to the closest life event to the middle-schooler, and we just get to witness at what scale that they are. almost like they came with their own life experience that has fed off to their
